PARENTING AFTER SEPARATION (PAS)

Family
Justice
Services

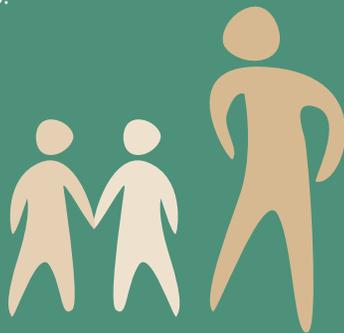

How a child reacts to their parent's separation will depend on age, level of emotional development, attachment or relationship history and, most importantly, how respectful the parents are towards one another.

Parenting After Separation is a no cost 6 hour workshop that can help parents understand how to meet their child's needs during this difficult time.

This workshop will also help parents in understanding the process and effects of separation and will encourage parents to make positive choices about how they will continue to parent their children after separation.

The objectives of Parenting After Separation are to provide parents with tools to:

- Understand and support their children's needs in separation;
- Help children through the separation;
- Maintain a positive relationship with children;
- Understand the emotional, financial and legal implications of parenting apart;
- Assist parents in preparing a parenting plan;
- Gain an understanding about court processes (i.e., adversarial, litigation); and
- Promote mediation, collaborative law and other dispute resolution options as a means of resolving disputes.

Additional information:

- parents must attend the entire 6 hour course to receive a certificate.
- parents may ask to attend together or apart.
- attendance is required for most proceedings in the Court of Queen's Bench.
- attendance is voluntary for Provincial Court matters unless ordered by the court.

Parenting After Separation for Families in High Conflict (PASHC)

The more intense, long-lasting and open the conflict between the parents during their separation, the more difficulties the child may experience. Children often respond to parental conflict with aggressive behaviour, depression and other behaviour problems.

In some instances, a high level of conflict may continue for several years after separation. Families experiencing high conflict may routinely find themselves in court to solve issues that should be relatively simple.

PASHC is a no cost 3 hour seminar available to all parents who have already completed the 6 hour Parenting After Separation course. PASHC is presently available in Edmonton and Calgary areas only.

PASHC course objectives are:

To provide parents with information

- The process of emotional disengagement
- What boundaries are and how to renegotiate them
- How to manage conflict

To help parents learn about child development and the needs of children

- The parent-child continuum
- Helping children cope

To encourage development of a parenting plan

- Maintains separation/disengagement for the parents through parallel parenting
- Affords some degree of safety
- Focuses on high degree of structure to reduce opportunity for conflict
